Genesee County Farm Bureau Wins State Awards

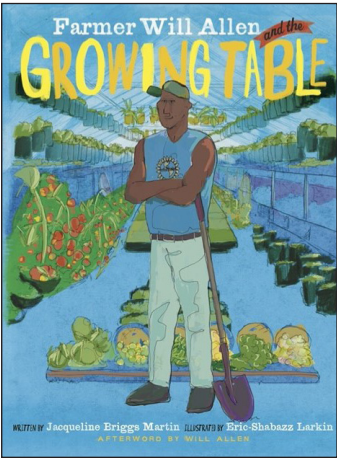

Genesee County Farm Bureau has received four County Awards of Excellence awards from New York Farm Bureau as part of its end of the year recognition program.

The County Excellence Awards are presented to county Farm Bureaus that have exhibited excellence in a variety of categories relating to effectiveness in agriculture promotion and outreach, leadership and county Farm Bureau management, legislative advocacy, and membership. Genesee County Farm Bureau was successful in being recognized in all four categories this year. In addition, Bruse Naas, Genesee County Farm Bureau president was recognized with the Distinguished President Award.

A few members from Genesee County Farm Bureau went as delegates to New York Farm Bureau’s 65th State Annual Meeting on December 7 in Albany. The farmer members took part in the grassroots process of discussing and voting on public policy positions on the delegate floor. Their efforts will lay the necessary groundwork for your New York Farm Bureau in Albany and Washington, D.C. for the coming year.

Agricultural Literacy Week

March 21-25, 2022

For the past 17 years, volunteers throughout the state have helped to celebrate New York agriculture by reading a book with an agricultural theme to elementary school students.

This year’s featured book Farmer Will Allen and the Growing Table written by Jacqueline Briggs Martin with art by Eric Shabazz Larkin, focuses on farmer Will Allen who is no ordinary farmer. A former basketball star, he’s as tall as his truck, and can hold a cabbage, or a basketball, in one hand. Farmer Will sees what others can’t, the opportunities for growing food whether you have 100 acres or a rooftop and shares the journey from soil to table with those around. This book will take students on an explorative journey learning about community gardens and inspire them to build communities through food, even if they only have a pot on their porch to cultivate. Hands-on activities related to the book are also offered to extend learning. Books are then donated to the school or classroom library. Last year 2,300 books were donated while 75,000 elementary students participated in an experiential learning activity.

President’s Message

Hello everyone,

With Spring around the corner and the promise of the world getting back to normal, your Genesee County FB board has been working diligently to have in person meetings and to stay abreast of the many changes that have happened over the winter. The lowering of overtime from 60 hours to 40 hours was a battle hard fought locally and hopefully still not officially over. We are scheduled to have Zoom legislative meetings soon to bring local issues to our representatives in Albany. Your County board also approved the purchase of an ice cream vending machine to be placed at the Batavia Soccer field to help raise revenue and publicity for our organization.

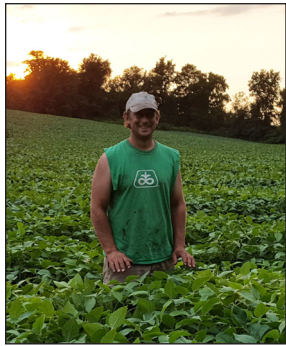

And at lastly, our board is planning on and looking forward to attending the Celebrate Ag Dinner in Alexander on April 2nd.

NYFB Lobby Day Goes Virtual Again This Year

The normally two-day trip into Albany will again be virtual this year, thus giving those members who are unable to take time away the opportunity to participate. Virtual meetings will be scheduled with elected officials over a few days' span to increase participation and decrease possible scheduling conflicts.

Our Lobby Day goals have always been the same, make connections, build relationships and communicate the struggles and needs of agriculture to elected officials. If you're interested in meeting with your elected officials "virtually" and representing Genesee County Farm Bureau, contact Amanda Krenning-Muoio at 585-504-8308.

Genesee County New Board Member Spotlight

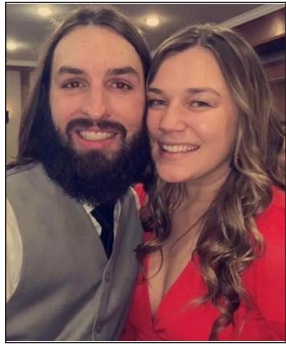

Bryan Lord

My wife and I run Shade Tree Farm LLC, a 120 acre no-till cash crop farm. We grow soybeans, wheat, hay and triticale. I work full time as a Credit representative for Farm Credit East out of the Hornell and Batavia offices. Aside from that we are expecting our first daughter in April of 2022. Farm Bureau interested me because of the efforts they put forth to hold the line and represent agriculture in New York State as well as nationwide and I wanted to help be a voice for rural America. Another major issue which got me interested is the increasing pressure to ban chemicals which are used in agricultural production. Farm Bureau has continued to stand their ground on this issue and aimed to educate the public and policy makers. While Bryan is not new to the Board, he is new in the role of Vice President.

Taylor Gilbert

My name is Taylor Gilbert and I grew up on a first generation dairy farm in Cayuga County. I now work for Farm Credit East across a variety of industries throughout Genesee, Orleans, Erie and Niagara counties. My first memories of Farm Bureau are speaking at annual meetings on behalf of the dairy promotion program at a young age, and have been involved throughout college before moving to Genesee County. Farm Bureau has helped me to stay engaged and updated in the most recent events that effect nearly all of the farmers I work with. I look forward to getting to know and working for the county, helping in any way that I can.

Ethan Richardson

Row crop farmer and agriculture equipment salesman for Monroe tractor. I was drawn to farm bureau to hopefully help with awareness of new regulations and laws that will make what farmers do on a daily basis challenging. With this I hope to work with a strong team to help push back these rules and regulations so farms can continue to grow and produce. Being active on my own farm and along with interacting with all size and types of farms throughout western ny with my job as an agriculture equipment salesman, I hope to bring a diverse set of understanding or concerns to the table so we can address everyone's needs. Farm bureau has helped me understand what and how some of these new regulations and laws will effect everyone in agriculture from farms to equipment dealerships to grocery stores and more.
